Tax Hike Takes Back Seat

City Budget Hearing

By HUGH REYNOLDS

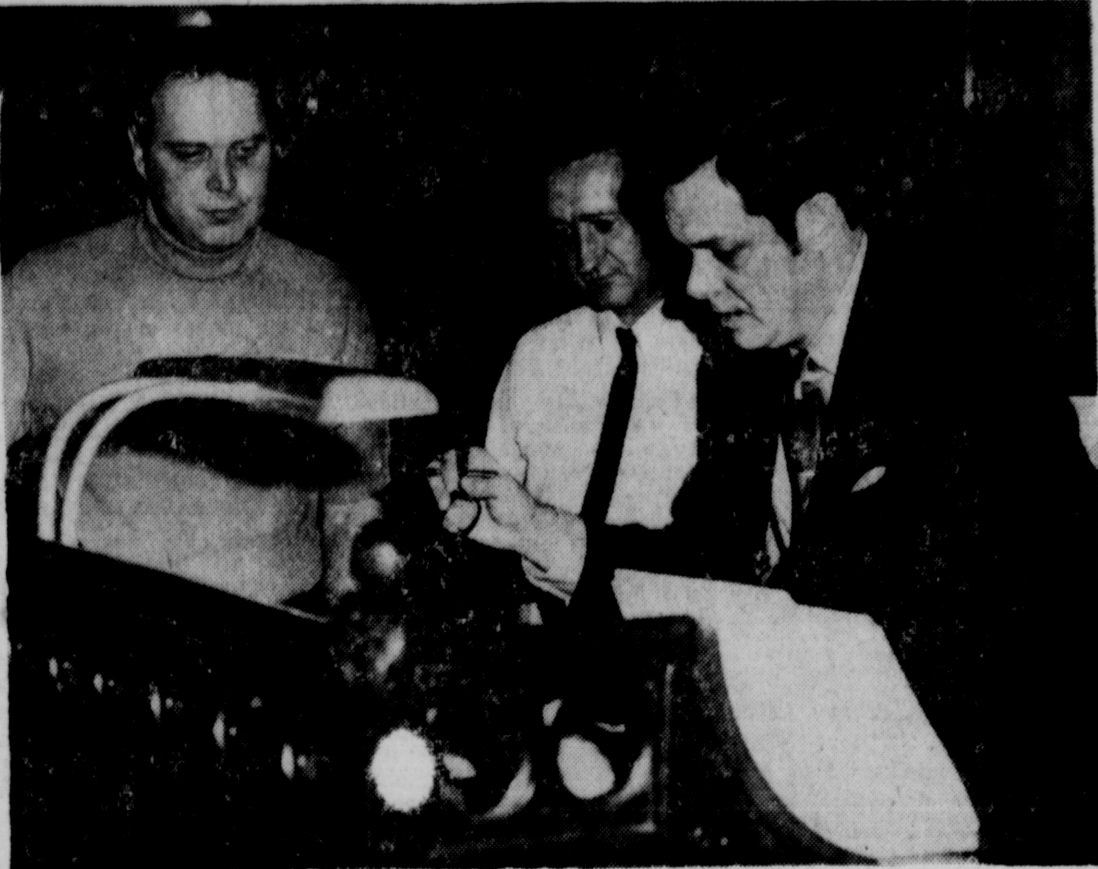

KINGSTON

City residents may be getting something in their 1973 budget that they didn't get in the 1972 budget aired Thursday night at a public hearing: more time to study a more detailed document.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig chaired the public hearing last night on his 1972 budget at city hall but the most frequent complaint raised was not that taxes will be up almost $11 per thousand, but that city residents had only about 36 hours to study the budget between the time Koenig released it to the public, Wednesday afternoon, and the public hearing, last night at 7:30.

There were also questions on the lack of details in the budget regarding "line item" disclosures. "Just how do I get specific information on this budget," one man asked the mayor. He was invited to the mayor's office for a further briefing.

Koenig is cognizant of those complaints and has already taken steps to issue the public a more detailed budget in advance of the public hearing. The 1971 budget provided a "line item" breakdown of salaries for the first time in city history. Koenig said he had hoped to break down the "equipment" accounts but a lack of time, the complexity of this year's budget and his four-day illness prevented it. "The charter states that the final date for budget submission (from department heads) will be Dec. 15," the mayor said. "We moved it back two weeks this year in an effort to get the budget out earlier. We were also unable to provide a more detailed budget." Koenig said he was aware of those complaints and would make every effort in 1973 to rectify them.

County Legislator from Kingston, Melvin Mones, was the first speaker and asked the mayor about his equipment account. "I'm sure you have some system of replacement, but the equipment account is all lumped together. Just what is the policy on replacement?" Koenig's answer revealed a return to the former policy of floating bonds for the purchase of major pieces of equipment. For the past four years, the city has paid for its equipment in cash. Cutbacks in state aid and rising costs in other sectors have ruled that out for 1972. "Last year, we spent $89,000 on equipment," Koenig answered. "We don't feel it's sound practice to pay for one piece of equipment that may cost $40,000 all in one year when it may last 10 to 15 years.

We're going to pay for it with bonds." Koenig also revealed that the city will increase its debt in the form of short term (five-year limit) notes by some $656,000 in 1972. The money will be used to pay for the new city hall and the new Rondout Recreation Center, both downtown off Broadway.

Mones and Koenig also exchanged remarks on the county tax rate compared to the overall tax rate. Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago had criticized Koenig for "blaming his tax increase on the county," prior to Koenig's public hearing. "I realize the county has been bad boys and raised taxes causing the city tax hike. My sympathy to you, we've just gone through it," Mones said.

Koenig interrupted at that point, saying, "I don't think I've ever criticized the county tax increase. The criticism is not in the county. We both have the same problems."

Koenig also revealed that the budget gap of $440,000 envisioned in April because of state cutbacks, had wound up at only "about $285,000." Koenig's deputy city treasurer, John L. Houghtaling, said that increased revenues toward the end of the year from the sales tax and the gross utilities tax had narrowed the budget gap. A surplus of $30,888 is figured for 1971.

The mayor received requests for more funding from two persons. Marshall Lipton, represented the Kingston Area Library and asked the city for additional funds for 1972. Recognizing the city's budgetary problems and "grateful for past help," Lipton made "an urgent plea for certain additional funds that we need."

The Rev. James Veatch, pastor of the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, asked Koenig to return $3,000 to next year's budget for a summer program for children and another $4,500 for the Ulster County Community Action Committee for the hiring of a Spanish-speaking aid to work with an estimated 55 Spanish-speaking families in Kingston. Koenig discussed those requests with Council President T. Robert Gallo after the budget hearing.

Eight Legislators Honored at Meeting

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Eight Ulster County Legislators, including the dean of the county board, Roger Mabie, (D-Dist. 7) were honored at the year-end meeting of the Legislature held Thursday.

Mabie, who served the old Board of Supervisors and the present Legislature for 14 years was supervisor of Esopus from 1958 through 1967 and was in the Legislature serving as minority leader, since 1968.

Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) praised Mabie for the many contributions he has made, citing in particular his being instrumental in the formation of Ulster County Community College.

Following Savago's concluding remark that Mabie's "word was his bond," members of the Legislature gave the minority leader a standing ovation.

After receiving a certificate marking his service, Mabie recalled the changes in the county and the "positive results" of what the Legislators and Supervisors have accomplished and, praised the county for having been the only one in the state in recent years, to have reduced county taxes for three years in a row.

Others to be honored by the board included Social Services Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons, who was presented a plaque for his years of service.

Savago tabbed him the "easiest department head to get along with—especially in a trying job."

Others, departing members of the Legislature, honored were Lawrence D. Craft (R-Dist. 10) who was supervisor of Wawarsing from 1950-1954 and a county legislator from 1968 through 1971. Paul M. Brazier (D-Dist. 1), four years on the county board; Frank Muller, (R-Dist. 10), four years; Orrie P. Riehl, (D-City), four years;

Andrew T. Gilday, (D-City), two years and John C. Sangaline, Third Ward Supervisor, 1964-67 and Legislator from 1968 through 1971.

In other routine resolutions, the board approved an application for state aid for its juvenile aid program, sanctioned the printing and binding of proceedings of the Ulster County Legislature for 1971 and authorized Savago to enter into a contract for equipment for Ulster County Community College in the amount of $2,517.31 for two study carrels and nursing instructional beds, tables, screens and mattresses.

The board also agreed to bond the sheriff in the amount of $25,000, authorized the chairman of the board to appoint a committee to negotiate employee contracts at Ulster County Community College and request that department heads use recycled paper.

Other resolutions, all of which received unanimous approval of the board, include a transfer of funds within the Social Services Department and amending the 1971 budget for Migrant Health.

Rocky Still Shy Budget Votes

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The legislature worked against a New Year's Eve deadline today to pass a $407.5 million compromise tax plan drawn up by Governor Rockefeller with Republican and Democratic leaders to help close the state's budget deficit.

(Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) and State Senator Jay P. Rollison (R-Dutchess, Ulster) are still holding firm against the governor's proposals.

Bell told The Freeman he would continue in opposition to the proposals "until they address themselves to the main issue," that of providing the maximum public services with available monies and a fair tax structure. He said the "pressure was really on," however, and he didn't know "how much more of this our fellows can take."

The major roadblock was Republican rank and file assemblymen who opposed elements of the tax program. Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea and Rockefeller met with individual assemblymen in to the early morning hours, but the leaders were still between four and eight votes short of the 76 needed for passage.

Duryea reportedly had in the neighborhood of 40 Republican votes for the package, while Assembly Democratic leader Stanley Steingut was said to be ready to provide no more than 30 votes in the bipartisan effort. In the Senate, it was reported that enough Democrats had agreed to vote for the plan that it was assured of passage.

Related State Legislature stories on Page 4.

Rockefeller was joined by State GOP Chairman Charles T. Lanigan and Attorney General

Louis J. Lefkowitz in the effort to persuade the lawmakers.

Other assemblymen, already committed to vote for or against the tax program, lounged in the chamber throughout the night Thursday as the meeting was postponed hour by hour and finally put over until morning. Duryea and Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges both indicated they were hopeful the program could be passed before the new year, but Duryea emphasized that he, for one, was "not bound by any timetable."

"There comes a point somewhere this afternoon at which we ought to think about spending the weekend at home," the speaker told newsmen at a post-midnight news conference. "This house is not going to work into New Year's Eve."

Underlying the tense budget situation was a growing edginess between Duryea and Rockefeller. Sources close to the governor indicated Rockefeller was unhappy with the speaker for not lining up the votes for the program earlier in the day.

The speaker, irritated by the inferences, said he had heard that "several stories had been planted," but added "we don't succumb to that kind of pressure."

The tenseness between the two began a day earlier when Rockefeller announced he was considering a fifth term as governor. Duryea is considered one of the most likely GOP successors to the governorship when Rockefeller steps down.

City Bus Service Ceases at Midnight

KINGSTON — When last contacted by The Freeman, the mayor was making an effort to find out why the bus service will be closed down. Koenig said that he was notified by Thomas K. Wilson, owner of Urban Transit Corp., that bus service would cease as of midnight. Koenig said his office received the call from Wilson's secretary in Walkkill on Thursday and was notified today.

Wilson, who said he was being money on the city operation, threatened to cancel service earlier this year but agreed to hold off until a city-state survey of the bus operation was completed. Half of that survey was taken in July. The other half was scheduled for next year. The city already has appropriated $1,000 to the bus company to install locked coin boxes recommended by the state.

Mayor Koenig met with Perry today in an effort to work out an arrangement to get the buses running by Monday morning.

TAX TIME—It won't be long, Internal Revenue Service Center Director Frank Bro-witt (R) and Barbara Bean (L) of Methuen, Mass., check income tax forms at the center in Andover, Mass. The 1040 forms, 11.9 million, are being mailed this week throughout New England and New York. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

"Happy New Year" is heard everywhere at or toward the end of every year. It is a sincere hopeful wish. Obviously, it can not develop into a reality—or even an expectation—unless at least some of these sort of resolutions are made and KEPT.

To set aside several days a year to plan for those things that are worth while; to review and consider ambitions, aspirations and set priorities. To set high standards of behavior. To change improper past behavior and oppose improprieties of others. To seek respect through self respect and grant respect to others who deserve it. To face and challenge the dizzying pace of vast changes with awareness and confidence. To ignore broken dreams and forget failures—but not the reasons that caused them. To try to make the world a better place to live in—and more importantly—to realize we have to live in it be it good or bad.

With these thoughts we wish all our friends a Happy New Year. May contentment be yours in a richly rewarded full life—including a meaningful old age.

Election Committee Makes Recommendations

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — The inaccuracies of election results, which only this past November led to erroneous announcement of some alleged winners who later learned they had lost their close races for the Ulster County Legislature, has resulted in an investigation by the County Election Committee.

At a recent meeting of the Commissioner of Elections Committee, "the general subject of wholly unauthorized persons submitting inaccurate and/or incomplete election returns to the news media on election night was discussed at length."

It was decided that while there "are no legal ways this can be overcome, it is felt that the news media itself in its eagerness and overzealousness to report scraps of information regarding unofficial election returns, are too prone to accept and transmit so-called results, no matter from whom or where said information emanates."

"Also piecemeal and fragmented figures from separate sources are too easily garbled, or added together erroneously giving an entirely false picture of election results as a whole," the committee stated.

The committee concluded that "hopefully in the immediate future a simpler, more effective and more accurate way of channeling the election night unofficial returns through to the news media will be formulated."

It was suggested that this can be accomplished through the cooperation of the news media, all political parties, as well as county facilities. The committee has been suggested as a conduit to coordinate this cooperative effort.

In its recommendations, the committee and its chairman Lewis Hall (R-Dist. 2) recommended that "immediate steps be taken to computerize certain operations in the department in an effort to cut down on the time consuming manual operations now in effect."

Other members of the committee include Philip H. Davis (R-Dist. 11), John Sangaline (R-City), William G. Davis (D-City), Charles Scala (Dist. 1) and Lewis Kirschner (D-Dist. 7).

Gorman Dems Leader

KINGSTON — As predicted in Monday's Daily Freeman, Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City) was elected Democratic minority leader of the Ulster County Legislature Thursday.

Gorman succeeds Roger Mable (D-Dist. 7) who did not seek another term on the county board.

A Kingston surgeon, Gorman recently won his second term as a city legislator on the county board. He was first elected to office in 1969 after losing the race for the Assembly to H. Clark Bell in 1968.

county Democratic chairman positions. He relinquished his post as county chairman in 1969.

As a member of the legislature, he serves on the County Treasurer's Committee, Legislative and Rules Committee, Public Health Committee, Sheriff Committee, and Social Services Committee.

Gorman moved to Kingston from New York City in 1959 and entered local politics. He ran unsuccessfully for county coroner in 1965 on a platform calling for the abolition of that position and the establishment of a county medical examiner's office.

Gorman was opposed in the Thursday night vote by George Barthel (D-Dist. 10). It was a closed ballot, and no votes totals were announced.

The vote was held in the Kirkland Hotel in Kingston.

City Police Investigating Theft Report — KINGSTON — City police are investigating the reported theft of $73.74 from the Sunoco service station at Broadway and West Chester Street.

Police said that Richard Bohan of 147 River Road, Ulster Park, the attendant on duty Thursday night, told them that a brown or gold Buick Rivera, 1962-63 vintage, with three men and a woman pulled in for gasoline around 9:30 p.m. The attendant said that after they left he discovered the money missing from the cash register. City detectives are investigating the case.

City Firemen Douse Blaze

KINGSTON — City firemen doused a fire in a bag of trash on the second floor hallway at 351 Broadway at 5:24 a.m. today.

The fire was extinguished with pressurized water from Engine No. One, stationed out of Central Station. The three-story brick building is described as mercantile, multiple apartment building by fire officials. It is owned by Herbert Sussin of 135 Madison Avenue.

After the fire was doused, the remains of the trash were placed in a bucket and removed. Cause of the fire is still undetermined and is being investigated by city police. Damage was caused to the base board of the wall in the hallway. In addition, firemen had to break down sections of the wall to check for fire travel.

Fire fighters returned to quarters at 6:50. Engine One and Truck One from Central Station responded along with Engine Three from Cornell Station and Wicks Salvage Company. Deputy Chief Robert Maines was in charge.

Ring out the old, ring in the new. Happy New Year to each of you, and thanks for letting us be of service.

Additional Sites Set For SBA Circuit Rider

WASHINGTON, D.C. — An official of the Federal Small Business Administration will be holding regular office hours in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, and Middletown, in addition to Kingston, according to an announcement made today by Cong. Hamilton Fish Jr. Fish, who was successful in his negotiations to have an SBA Loan Officer in Kingston on a regular basis, said that although the hours in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, and Middletown will not be as frequent as those in Kingston, the SBA is making an effort to service all the businessmen of the Hudson Valley. According to Fish, David Offenberg, who will be in Kingston every Monday, will also spend the first and third Tuesdays in Poughkeepsie, the second Tuesday of each month in Newburgh, and the third Wednesday of each month in Middletown. For appointments with Offenberg in any of the four cities, the local Chamber of Commerce should be contacted.

Compromise Package Charges

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The average family of four will pay another $62.46 a year in taxes under the compromise plan as a means of erasing the state's budget deficit.

Legislative tax writers noted, however, that a recent federal tax cut will mean a net reduction for most families, even with higher state levies.

The compromise package includes 2.5 per cent income tax surcharge, plus higher levies on liquor ($1 a gallon) gas (another penny per gallon) and cigarettes (three cents a pack).

Also, it drops the current tax credits ($12.50 per single person, $25 per family) but raises the standard deductions to $1,000 and $1,500 respectively, and eliminates the income tax for families below $5,000 in taxable income.

Thus, the man with a wife and two children, who has a $7,500 adjusted gross income, would first lose his $25 credit. Then, he would pay:

—Another $9.81 in income tax, if he takes the standard deduction. ($21.81 if he itemizes deductions at the average of 18 per cent).

—$18.25 in cigarette taxes if he smokes a pack a day. (The three cent tax hike will likely mean another five cents for the machine).

—$2.40 for liquor, if he buys a fifth a month.

—And $7.00 for gasoline, if he drives 10,000 miles a year using 700 gallons.

For the average family, the state tax levies eat up more than half the federal tax cut.

The family of four, with a $7,500 income which itemizes deductions, will pay $51 less in federal income tax in 1972, but $21.81 more to the state, for a net gain of $29.19. If the family takes the standard deduction, it will pay $94 less to "the feds" and $9.8 more to the state, for a net gain of $84.19.

The other "nuisance" taxes take up the rest, for a total of half the federal tax break.

Legislators also point out that the final tax package is still less than the one proposed by Governor Rockefeller last February. At that time, the surcharge was proposed for 10 per cent, effective for all of 1971.

Levitt Cites Advance Planning

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt points to the state budget crisis as an example of problems to be avoided by planning state spending well in advance.

In his 1971 annual report to the legislature, the comptroller put in a pitch for an idea which the legislature has rejected the last two years: to spell out long-term spending plans in the budget.

The state needs to plan ahead, Levitt says, because many programs take so long to get started that "the full budgetary impact... can be measured only when expressed over a longer period of time."

Levitt sent his report to legislators Thursday as they struggled to come up with a revenue package to get the state out of a $1.5 billion deficit over the next 15 months.

He said the 1971 fiscal crisis developed over several years as demands on the state's checking account exceeded its bank balance.

To cover the difference, legislators imposed new state sales taxes and raised old ones while agencies were financing construction programs with borrowed money.

Then the economy went into a slump and this cut deeply into principal sources of state revenue.

Tax revenue had been increasing by about 6 per cent a year until the 1970-71 fiscal year when the gain was only one per cent.

But during the same year spending was going up 17.3 per cent.

Levitt sent a letter Thursday to Democratic Assemblyman Peter Berle and Chester Straus answering questions they had about the fiscal situation.

McGovern's Plan

Just how far we've come since the days of the oft-quoted "chicken in every pot" political promise was illustrated recently in a proposal by one of the many Democratic presidential hopefuls, Sen. George McGovern.

The South Dakota senator has suggested a system of federal payments to every American, regardless of income.

The handout would average $1,000 per year for every man, woman and child in the United States. Let's see now. That's 200,000,000 multiplied by $1,000. That's a lot of money, senator.

But before dismissing the program as just another hare-brained scheme designed to elicit support from among the nation's poor, the plan is just bizarre enough to warrant some discussion.

Most interesting aspect is McGovern's claim that it would make a welfare system unnecessary.

In view of the disastrous effects that the astronomical cost of welfare is having on all levels of government, just about any plan that could approach a solution to the problem probably is worth studying at least.

The senator hasn't delved into specifics, or at least they haven't been publicized, but what the plan amounts to is a redistribution of wealth with gradually higher tax rates applied to the wealthy. Thus, starting with families earning more than $12,000 annually, the tax would be high enough to wipe out the payment they would receive from the government. As the presidential hopeful sees it, the heavy assessment on the higher incomes would provide a surplus to be distributed to those with lower incomes.

Senator McGovern is not the first politician to develop some version of a "soak the rich" scheme, nor will he be the last. And while the less affluent in our society will welcome any proposal along these lines, the basic tests that initially should apply are whether the plans are equitable and whether they are practical.

With all its faults, America's free enterprise system which rewards initiative, enterprise, creativity and plain old-fashioned hard work, still is superior to that of the socialist countries. And attractive though it appears on the surface, such a plan as advocated by Senator McGovern, could truly be counter-productive in that it would destroy ambition and tend to reduce everyone to the same level, regardless of ability or brainpower.

We're afraid our welfare mess will have to be untangled by someone other than McGovern.

Vocations Come First

Despite the hairdos and weird clothing of many students, the enrollments at colleges and universities this year show an intense interest in vocations. Premedicine, prelaw, social work, psychology, nursing and journalism are some of the preferred courses the young are taking now.

There have been declines in engineering, education, and physics, reflecting the sharp drop in employment opportunities in those fields. The young are taking no chances. They want to be assured of a job after they do their preparatory studies.

Two recent nationwide statistical studies on college enrollment reveal the trend. Biology, one of the most popular courses for aspiring physicians, is also one of the most popular. Medicine, where there is still a shortage of trained personnel, has reported a dramatic rise in applicants. Perhaps not enough to fill the demand, but a real rise nonetheless.

Equally dramatic is the fall in half of engineering applicants, reflecting the economic slowdown for that field. Journalism, and other communication arts, is one of the rapidly-growing areas of study, despite the fact that the job prospects are not too bright just now in the industry. Students see journalism as a way to get involved in the world around them, and hope for jobs that will let them take part. Others see psychology as a way to deal with social problems.

The mainstays of liberal education—English, the fine arts, history, philosophy—have not fallen by the wayside. The decline in the humanities is very small. The basics are still recognized and sought widely.

WASHINGTON—Throughout the Indian-Pakistani war, the American people once again were misled by their leaders. Secret documents dispute, for example, the White House explanation for dispatching a naval task force to the Bay of Bengal.

Official spokesmen emphasized that the task force's main mission was to evacuate American citizens from embattled Dacca.

We have studied the secret White House papers dealing with the two-week war. These make clear that the task force — including the aircraft carrier Enterprise, the most powerful ship in the Navy — was sent into Indian waters as a "show of force."

This provocative naval deployment was intended (1) to compel India to divert both ships and planes to shadow the task force; (2) to weaken India's blockade against East Pakistan; (3) possibly to divert the Indian aircraft carrier Vikram from its military mission; and (4) to force India to keep planes on defense alert, thus reducing their operations against Pakistani ground troops.

The evacuation of American citizens was strictly a secondary mission, adopted more as the justification than the reason for the naval move.

Here's how the "Top Secret" orders to the task force were finally worded: "Situation: U.S. citizens may have to be evacuated from the area affected by the present India-Pakistan conflict. The situation may also arise which will require the presence and utilization of CVA (carrier) to ensure the protection of U.S. interest in the area . . .

"Mission: to form a contingency evacuation force capable of helo (helicopter) evacuation of civilians, of self-protection, and of conducting naval air and surface ops (operations) as directed by higher authority in order to support U.S. interests in the Indian Ocean area."

Secret Excerpts
Meanwhile, those anonymous aides, who whisper the latest word from the White House into the ears of newsmen, have stopped pretending that the task force was intended to evacuate stranded Americans.

Now the aides are leaking the story that President Nixon had learned of the Soviet-Indian plans not only to lop off East Pakistan but to dismember West Pakistan. The task force was ordered into the Indian Ocean, according to this line, as a deterrent.

But this, too, is a distortion of the information contained in the White House papers. Here are excerpts from the "Secret Sensitive" strategy session that took place in the White House's fabled Situation Room shortly before the decision to present a "show of force" in the Bay of Bengal.

"Mr. Helms (the CIA chief) opened the meeting by briefing the current situation . . . It is reported that prior to terminating present hostilities, Mrs. Gandhi intends to attempt to eliminate Pakistan's armor and air force capabilities."

"Assessing the situation in the West, General Ryan (the Air Force chief) indicated that he did not see the Indians pushing too hard at this time, rather they seem to be content with a holding action . . .

"Dr. Kissinger (the President's chief foreign policymaker) suggested that . . . if the Indians smash the Pak air force and the armored forces, we would have a deliberate Indian attempt to force the disintegration of Pakistan. The elimination of the Pak armored and air forces would make the Paks defenseless."

Scare Tactics
"It would turn West Pakistan into a client state. The possibility elicits a number of questions. Can we allow a U.S. ally to go down completely? Can we allow the Indians to scare us off? . . .

"Mr. Sisco (Assistant State Secretary in charge of Asian affairs) stated that if the situation were to evolve as Dr. Kissinger had indicated, then, of course, there was a serious risk to West Pakistan. Mr. Sisco doubted, however, that the Indians had this as their objective . . .

"Dr. Kissinger stated that what we may be witnessing is a situation wherein a country (India), equipped and supported by the Soviets, may be turning half of Pakistan into an impotent state and the other half into a vassal . . .

One could make a case, he argued, that we have done everything two weeks too late in the current situation."

"Mr. Packard (Deputy Defense Secretary) stated that perhaps the only satisfactory outcome would be for us to stand fast, with the expectation that the West Paks could hold their own."

"Dr. Kissinger said that we are not trying to be even-handed. The President does not want to be even-handed. The President believes that India is the attacker . . .

"Dr. Kissinger said that we cannot afford to ease India's state of mind. 'The lady' is cold blooded and tough and will not turn into a Soviet satellite merely because of pique. We should not ease her mind. He invited anyone who objected to this approach to take his case to the President."

Next day, preparations were made to send a task force into the Bay of Bengal to confront both Soviet and Indian warships.

On U.S. Involvement

WASHINGTON — Every now and then official documents like the "Pentagon Papers" or currently the British records of the efforts of Winston Churchill and Franklin Roosevelt to persuade Josef Stalin to give up territory occupied by Soviet forces during World War II are the subject of discussion. It is as if history can be analyzed on the basis of a few documents whose texts haven't been published before and furnish interesting sidelights.

The fundamental facts that preceded our participation in World War I, for instance, should be made known to the American people. We did not enter the war merely to help European friends, but to protect our own national interests. Unarmed passenger vessels were being subjected to unrestricted submarine warfare by the German navy, and freedom of the seas was virtually abolished. Protests by our government were to no avail. The United States found itself compelled to fight for the right to travel in international waters without fear of attack.

More than two decades elapsed before World War II broke out, and the United States again declared its neutrality at first. The German Army invaded Poland, and France and Great Britain came to its defense. The Soviet Union, however, had entered into an alliance with Hitler, which shocked the world. The agreement didn't last very long, and when Hitler launched an attack across the Russian border, the Soviet Union sought the aid of the United States and other nations. It became a member of the western alliance, but, when the war was over, the Soviets retained possession of the Eastern European countries which they had occupied. They insisted on the famous Yalta agreements which gave the Communists domination over what became the "captive nations."

The United States entered the war in defense of its own territory when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor in 1941. We became allies not only of the countries of Western Europe and the Soviet Union but of China in its war against Japan.

The settlement of World War II has never created a favorable impression in the minds of many diplomats throughout the world, who feel that the freedom of the peoples of Eastern Europe was sacrificed to appease the Soviet Union.

Today formerly independent countries like Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria are really satellites of the Soviet Union. East Germany is responsible to the Soviet government. The Balkan States have been incorporated into the Soviet Union. The United States, therefore, participated in a war which in the end brought the loss of independence for a number of the smaller nations of Europe.

The power of the Soviet Union was extended into the Far East. Moscow supported and aided the Communist forces which eventually took over the mainland of China. A communist regime was installed in North Korea, and help was given by both Red China and the Soviet Union when North Korea invaded South Korea. The entire situation in the Far East has remained unsettled since World War II ended.

Communist China also has sought to enlarge its hold over many areas in Asia, but there is a question now whether the Red Chinese have the military power to retain possession of their territory in the event that the Soviets decide to take it away from them or to try to set up another government.

Today the United States is trying to make friends with Peking, and this may lead to a new relationship which could at least caution the Soviets to let the Peking government alone. But the process is a slow one, and the troubles in Southeast Asia are rather complex. Red China is involved not only in Indo-China but in South Asia in the dispute between Pakistan and India.

So there is no clear-cut definition of where the Soviets really stand and what the position of the Red Chinese is toward achieving peace on the Asian continent. Nor is there any indication what either would do if a move was made toward the attainment of an independent status for the smaller countries of Eastern Europe as well as Asia.

How many of the 18-year-olds today — or even the 25-year-olds, for that matter — know how we happened to get into World War I and World War II and why, in the light of what has occurred since, we have to keep our eyes fixed on powerful forces like the Soviet Union and Red China, which continue to seek to expand their power and influence over smaller neighbors?

Season's Greetings — A Little Late

BERRY'S WORLD

"Which one is the command module?"

Merry Christmas, Jack. A very Merry Christmas to you. That's all it would take. A tap of the doorbell, a hello, a few pleasant words, and farewell. I was driving around North Jersey killing time. The plane was four hours off. The afternoon sun was cold and brassy and the hem of winter swung hard against the street lights, making them peel silently.

The people on Bergenline Avenue shopped with their chins on their chests. I remembered the giant lived nearby. Jack is the biggest, most gentle person I know. He stands six foot five, wears a size 14 shoe and weighs 280. He worked in the West Shore Railroad shops. We used to say that he could hold one end of a freight car up while other men changed axles. He couldn't. But I have seen him carry an entire brake shoe on his shoulder.

So far as I know, he had but three loves: his job, a nobody's children, and fishing. On nights off, he often boarded a head boat in Sheephead Bay in wintry gales and went to sea to hold a line over the icicles to catch cod. In the war, he made the Murmansk run in rust buckets which churned up eight knots waiting for a torpedo. He married, but never had a child of his own. And yet his temperament was so fundamental that he could sit on the floor with a raft of youngsters and don a Mickey Mouse hat waiting for the cartoons to come on. When they laughed, Jack laughed in a deep hollow log sound.

A few years ago, I heard that Jack had an accident. The railroad laid him off. They took his first love away — trains. I thought of Lenny in "Of Mice and Men" and I shook the cruelty out of my head.

Now I had time. The plane was late. A policeman directed me to an apartment house.

It looked prim and new. Old men in windbreakers sat around the lobby talking politics. There was a game room and old women huddled around the tables, dealing old cards and old gossip.

Jack didn't answer the bell. I pounded on the door. Then I discovered that it was open. On the far side of the room, a gaunt figure sat staring in fright at the door. It squinted one eye, then tried to arise. He recognized me. I didn't recognize him.

He was sitting in a deep chair in front of a small television set. He wore slacks, carpet slippers, and no shirt. The bare chest was huge and the ribs tried to burst from a cage of brown skin. The black hair was combed back like a lion's mane. An inch of white whiskers stuck out of the chin.

The slacks were old and dirty. When he stood, there were at least 40 small cigarette burns. Some of the fingers were black. The huge hands were held like rotating claws. They never stopped rotating.

The gaunt face cracked into a smile. A front tooth was gone. When he stood to shake hands, I saw the ankles come out of the carpet slippers like squeezed eclair. He called me a treat for sore eyes. I wasn't.

It required a lot of questions to understand the wreckage. He could tick off the names of all the doctors who had examined him since the accident, but no one seemed to know what was wrong. He even had had brain scans. "See my right eye?" he said. I looked. It was stuck on the outer edge of the lid. "A doc told me the fluid is leaking out the back. Can't do nuthin'."

He sat on the sofa. He wished he could offer me a drink, but he didn't have anything. His wife was out shopping. He lives alone in his bedroom. He hasn't been outdoors since July. Jack and the TV set talk to each other. I pressed some money on him. "Oh, no," he said. "I don't need anything. I just want to go fishing. Just once more. Are them cod running yet?"

I glanced at the puffy ankles, the face radiant with thoughts of fishing, the hermit whiskers and hair. "Get yourself some beer and cigarettes," I said. He wanted to know how the children are. Fine, I said. Just fine. "That's great," he said. "To be a kid, that's the life."

We shook hands. Once he was a gigantic gentle creature. He loved his work on the railroad. The car was speeding away from the ghost when I remembered what I had intended to say.

Merry Christmas, Jack. A very Merry Christmas to you . . .

Kiss - and - Tellers Seldom Believed

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago, whilst in the pictures, I foolishly allowed a boy named Brian to kiss me. (I didn't know him very well.) He also tried to grope me, but I foiled his attempt.

Now some friends who live in his neighborhood have told me that Brian has been telling everyone that he had what he calls "a go at me." This is a lie! But, Abby, I fear that people may believe him and I perhaps will be classed as "easy," which I certainly am not.

What should I do? I would dread to think that my reputation is soiled at age 16 because of this one incident.

WORRIED IN IRELAND
DEAR WORRIED: Don't worry about it. Boys who kiss and tell are known not only for their kissing and telling but for boasting about conquests that never materialized.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married Bob, a sweet easy going guy. It was his first marriage and my second. I had a daughter (Jill) who is now four. Bob is the only father Jill remembers and she worships him. He adores her, too.

Last week my ex called and said Bob could adopt Jill if he wanted to. I was thrilled! When I told Bob, he said, "Nothing doing. He just wants to get out of paying the $40 a month child support, and I'm not letting him get away with it. He'll support Jill until she's 18!"

Abby, when Bob and I were first married he wanted to adopt Jill, but my ex was real nasty about it, so now Bob says he wouldn't adopt Jill on a bet.

I am getting to resent Bob now, but I won't bring up the adoption again if it kills me. I really love him, but I'm afraid the resentment will build up inside me and one day I'll explode. What should I do?

JILL'S MOM
DEAR MOM: Don't wait for the explosion. Tell Bob how you feel and ask him to please reconsider. It's better to talk out your feelings, even though Bob may not change his mind.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU
My wish for you and yours is a happy, healthy, peaceful New Year. Love,

ABBY
What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Beating the Football Blues on New Year's Day

By HELOISE CRUISE

DEAR WIVES: How many of you have ever had the urge to take your foot and kick out the TV tube on New Year's Day? (Even though it sounds like a good idea, don't do it! You might end up in the emergency room of your local hospital.)

Of course, I asked that question just in fun, but, honestly, each year I get so many letters on this subject that I know, and you know, that if we really did have that football in our hands, we'd be mighty tempted to throw it clear thru the tube and hope we made a touchdown. . . . I've been told by so many of you that the thing to do is get dressed and go to a show. Some gals work, clean house, cabinets, or try to get the leftover turkey deboned; or take down the tree and put all those decorations away, or write to Heloise! And you do, and you have and I really loved and laughed with each one of you.

After ten years of writing this column, I find that each year you all want to write and blast off. And this is the place to do it, gals. The consensus is that you don't bother to make a good dinner — or lunch — or supper. Feed those leftovers to the football watchers. They don't even know what they are eating!

Just fix a big tray of food and put it beside the favorite chair. If he's got company, put it on the coffee table. When they are hungry, they'll eat. If they starve, it's not your fault.

Personally, I cook for the following week. It's great! Take all those leftovers and make frozen dinner trays. Slice that turkey and put it in plastic bags. The leftover dressing can be rolled into tiny balls in the palm of your hand and stashed away. These can be fried or baked — wonderful for hors d'oeuvres when you need some.

I even froze cranberry sauce last year. It was so good. After it's frozen, cut it in tiny pieces and put it on a plate; or it's even good, when a spread is used on crackers to top off the spread with a wee bit of the cranberry sauce.

Any hoo — your letters just tickle me to death!

One of the cutest things that arrived in the multitude of letters last year was:

"Leave all the children with your husband and his cronies (if he has any friends who come over and help him watch the games) along with a plate of food, and take off."

I guess the idea is that this way he will learn how hard a life you lead staying home with those little ones all day, eh? (And, after all, he's only got two days to get through!)

So you all do what you want to do. I will probably be reading your letters (God bless you!) or doing the laundry, which I am always behind on.

The funny part about New Year's day is that in all these years I have never been told what I should do. So you all do me a favor and tell me not to work on New Year's day and tell me what to do instead. Gee — that I would love!

Love to you, and you, again and always . . .

HELOISE

P.S. Remember, your letters never have to be signed when you write to me. I even burn all envelopes each and every day. Promise and cross my heart.

So do write.

H.

Stockin Resigns as State U. Swim Coach

By IRA FUSFELD

ART STOCKIN
Resigns From Post

NEW PALTZ
Art Stockin has resigned as varsity swimming and diving coach at New Paltz State, The Freeman learned Thursday.

The surprise move came during the college's holiday vacation but was told immediately to the swimmers who were in

New Paltz for several practice sessions.

Stockin reportedly gave the team the news himself earlier this week. His official resignation came in the form of a letter to Athletic Director Dr. Richard Clegg.

Clegg acknowledged that he had received Stockin's resignation "with regret" but declined to comment further.

Stockin, when contacted at his home Thursday, said his decision was based on "a culmination of things."

"I have always said that I coached because I loved it and when I stopped loving it I'd get out. I apologized to the team for leaving them out in the cold, but I felt I should concentrate on more important things."

The popular coach will continue in his position of instructor of a full line of physical education classes at the college, including swimming. But he was not sure if his decision on giving up coaching would extend to his summer duties at the Stone Dock Swim Club.

No successor was immediately named to take over

Special

Stockin's New Paltz assignment. The team has a meet Wednesday at Oneonta and practice will resume on Monday.

The new man will more than likely come from the present athletic staff. Of that group, only Joe Owens, the former AD and baseball coach, and Arnold Lent, the intramural director, do not have coaching jobs at the present.

Stockin was in his seventh season of coaching at New Paltz. A graduate of that college, he previously had worked at Rondout Valley High School in Stone Ridge and at East Stroudsburg, Pa., College.

John Jay Captures Mid-Hudson Wrestling

By STEVE KANE

POUGHKEEPSIE
Second-seeded John Jay High School grappled its way to the 1971 Mid-Hudson Wrestling Tournament crown at Dutchess Community College Thursday night, leading a field of 16 high schools with 79 total points.

Favored Ramapo placed second at 77½, Newburgh was third at 69½ and defending champion Cornwall finished fourth with 66.

Ontario topped the list of Ulster County entrants, placing seventh in team competition at 33½ points. Kingston was 11th with 24½ points, and Saugerties placed 13th with 16.

"This has to be the best tournament we've ever had," said Co-director Bill Wright of the Arlington School System. "It had the best balance of any of the previous ones—there wasn't a bad team in the competition."

Ramapo's Paul Moore was voted the tourney's Most Valuable Wrestler Award over runner-up John Longabucco of Spring Valley. Moore competed in the 179 pound class, and pinned Kingston's Bill Kitsos in the final round.

Kitsos, Kingston's only finalist, made a quick takedown in the opening period of the championship match, and after an escape by Moore, added a reversal to lead 4-3. Moore broke and stood the Maroon on his shoulders for a pin at the 1:57 mark.

Three of Joe Friedel's Ontario Indians chalked up consolation victories. Brit St. John defeated Kingston's John Olive in the 128-pound class. John Langling won in the 140-lb. class, and Leon Faulkner took the 147 category. These wins were good for third place in the tourney's overall standings.

DUSO Champion Jim Molloy in the 121 matchup in 3:08, but Jay's Brian Kantor earned a 4-3 decision in 128 over Steve Horvath of Ramapo. Then Paul Miccio made it two straight for the Patriots with a second period pin of Ketcham's Steve Bower. The Miccio-Bower contest was one of the better ones of the night, as the 134-pounders both displayed good speed and skill to match.

Jim Molloy in the 121 matchup in 3:08, but Jay's Brian Kantor earned a 4-3 decision in 128 over Steve Horvath of Ramapo. Then Paul Miccio made it two straight for the Patriots with a second period pin of Ketcham's Steve Bower. The Miccio-Bower contest was one of the better ones of the night, as the 134-pounders both displayed good speed and skill to match.

Rick Lark of Cornwall overpowered Arlington's Scott Media for a 6-4 nod at 140, while Dave Hauser, Rockland County and Section Nine Champion, did the same to Jay's Al Torragrossa, giving Ramapo a third period pin in the 147 class.

Washingtonville's Sean O'Sullivan needed a final riding point to edge Cornwall's Ed Riley, 9-8, in a battle of Irishmen at 157, and Ramapo's District Three and Section Nine champ, Jim Horvath, bested Ed Schraeder of the Washies 5-1 in a 169-pound match.

Top seeds in the heavyweight divisions were upset in the final round as Benji Scherer of Cornwall blanked Arlington's Doug O'Dell, the defending champion, 14-0 at the 215 level. And Ken McElroy of Washingtonville pinned Cornwall's Paul De Rosa in 1:15 of the third period in the unlimited class.

Cornwall's John Brewer, a 134-pounder, won the Quick Pin Trophy for the tournament with a 1:34 time.

Over 200 wrestlers competed in the tournament, and a field of 26 were on the mats in the finals. Three new teams were added to the competition this year, Ramapo, Rondout and Spring Valley.

KHS Cagers Easy Winners

ONEONTA
Chuck Jackson scored 18 points and hauled down 19 rebounds to lead Kingston High School to a resounding 74-32 victory over Blue Ridge, Pa., High in the consolation round of the Oneonta Holiday Tournament Thursday evening.

New Hartford, which beat KHS in the opening round, handed the host school a 63-38 thrashing in the finals to win the event.

Kingston's unbeaten JV's meanwhile romped to their eighth straight, beating Oneonta, 63-38 and collecting the championship trophy in its class.

A fine defensive job by Pete Boyd and Ron Burris on Blue Ridges John Ragard was a key to the Maroons' rout of the Pennsylvania quintet. Ragard had been averaging 32.5 points per game going into the tilt, but the flashy shooter could net just 16 against KHS.

With Ragard held in check, Kingston was able to score at will. The first quarter ended with the count at a close 10-8 but by the half it was 27-14 and at the three quarter juncture the tally had reached 53-26.

Jackson had his finest game since early in the season, dominating the boards and connecting for nine field goals.

He was aided by center Tony Adams, who canned 14 points and collected the same number of rebounds.

An unusual statistic was the one point each scored by Walt Houghtaling and Tom Turco. The former had hit for 22 on opening night and the latter had been the team's leading scorer through the first seven games of the season.

The win evened Kingston's record at 4-4. The Maroons get back into action on Tuesday against Poughkeepsie in the Kate Walton Field House.

Raymond Gay tallied 18 points to give him 54 for two nights as the little Maroons moved to its easy win. Fred Jackson added 16.

LA String Now at 30

By United Press International
The Los Angeles Lakers may be sorry to see 1971 end.

The Lakers downed the Seattle SuperSonics 122-106 Thursday night to complete their second calendar month without a loss—a span in which they have amassed a record 30 consecutive victories.

Jim McMillian's 34 points and Jerry West's 28 helped the Lakers, who have not lost since the end of October, bounce back from a one-point deficit with 10 minutes to go. Los Angeles hit 20-of-26 shots from the floor in the final period to beat the Sonics. Wilt Chamberlain scored 24 points, had 24 rebounds and blocked seven shots for the Lakers.

Spencer Haywood scored 34 points to lead Seattle, which has lost to the Lakers four times during the two-month streak.

In other National Basketball Association action, Chicago routed Portland 117-92, Golden State downed Detroit 128-122, Houston whipped Atlanta 129-115, Phoenix clubbed Buffalo 123-102 and Baltimore topped New York 110-102.

Norm Van Lier's 24 points helped the Bulls rout Portland, Chicago's seventh straight victory. Chicago opened up a 30-point lead before Coach Dick Motta emptied his bench. Sidney Wicks led the Blazers with 23 points.

Nate Thurmond scored 42 points as Golden State roared back from a 21-point deficit to defeat the Pistons. The Warriors scored 83 points in the second half to pull out the game. Dave Bing had 30 points for the Pistons and Jimmy Walker added 29.

Jack Marin's 33-point effort lifted the Bullets over New York and snapped a seven-game Knicks' winning streak. Baltimore moved back into first place in the Central Division with the victory over New York, which was led by 21 points each by Walt Frazier and Earl Monroe.

Stars Tie Boston

BLOOMINGTON, Minn.
(UPI)—Minnesota North Stars Coach Jack Gordon was as pleased with the North Stars tie with the Boston Bruins as he would have been with a victory over most other clubs.

The Stars tied the Bruins 2-2 Thursday night on a third period goal by Jude Drouin and an outshot goal by Phil Esposito.

"I was encouraged by the way they played tonight," Gordon said. "They moved the puck well. Boston still scares the hell out of us, but any time you can outshoot those guys that's a good effort."

The Stars outshot the Bruins 17-8 in the first period and 21-16 in the second, but Boston came back in the third period to outshoot Minnesota 16-8.

Drouin, who shot from about six feet at 2:35 of the third period, said the puck deflected off the pad of one of the Boston defensemen after a shot by Barry Gibbs and "I got the puck while it was still in the air and simply drove it in."

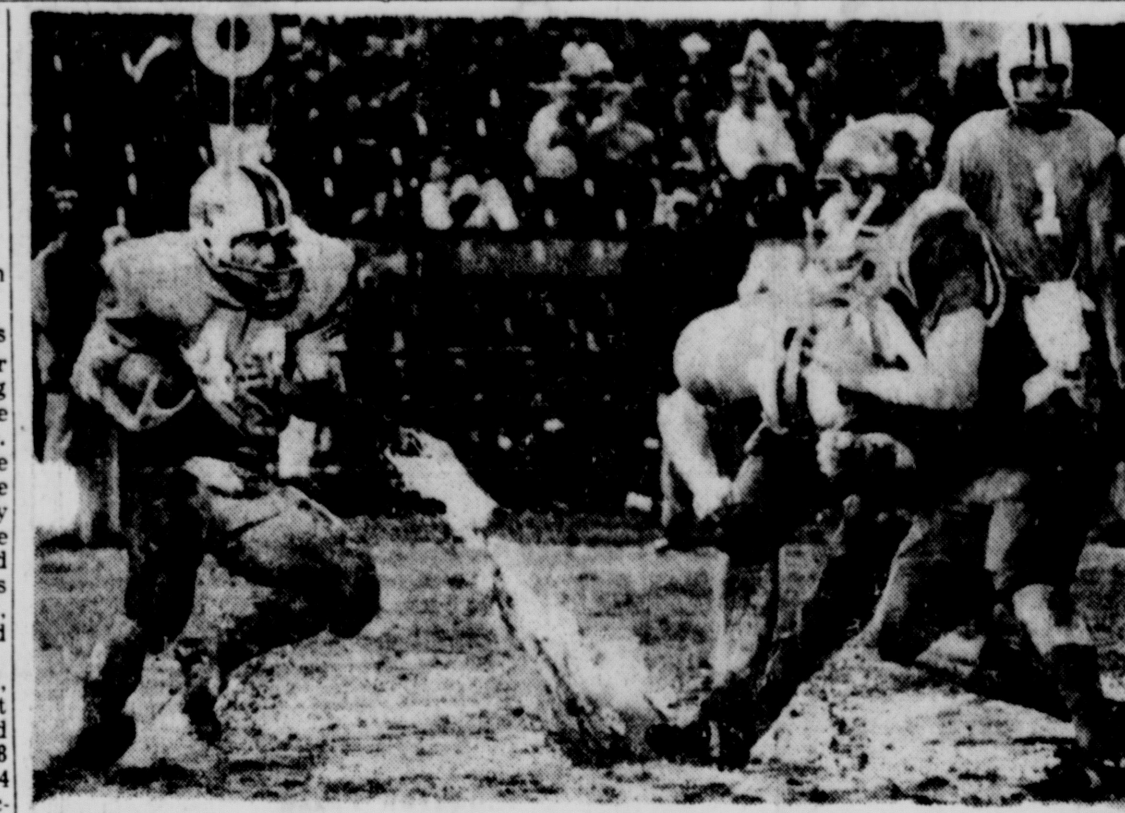

Gibbs' goal at 11:44 of the first period gave Minnesota a 1-0 lead, but Phil Esposito's 30th goal of the season and John McKenzie's 10th in the second period put Boston ahead 2-1.

Mckenzie's goal, from about 40 feet, sailed by Minnesota goalie Gump Worsley's pads.

But College Playoffs May Develop A Big Game by Fate

(By The ASSOCIATED PRESS)
The Nebraska-Alabama meeting in the Orange Bowl could be a forerunner of college football playoffs to determine a national champion. But for now it's just the best game fate and the bowl makers arranged for New Year's Day.

There are other bowls in the holiday week, including the Sugar, Rose and Cotton bowls, also Jan. 1. None have the flavor, however, of the match-up between the No. 1 Cornhuskers and the No. 2 Crimson Tide.

Nebraska is a deadly efficient offensive and defensive machine which earlier this year defeated then No. 2-ranked Oklahoma. The Huskers are not as colorful a team as Alabama but under Coach Bob Devaney have a 31-game unbeaten streak, including 22 straight victories. The team also is looking for its second consecutive national title.

Coach Bear Bryant of Alabama has won three national championships. A Tide victory over Nebraska would give him a fourth. He's relying on slashing running back Johnny Musso and the Wishbone-T to make up in speed what his team lacks against the Cornhuskers strength.

Oklahoma passed on Nebraska and it appears Alabama may try to do the same with Terry Davis at quarterback. Davis threw only 66 times during the season, but completed 42 of 452 yards and eight touchdowns.

Meanwhile, in New Orleans, Oklahoma and Auburn are preparing for the Sugar Bowl. The Sooners use the Wishbone-T, an offense Auburn saw in its game against Alabama.

The Sooners had the most potent scoring team during the season and Coach Ralph Jordan of Auburn admits his team's defense must be extremely sharp to stop the likes of quarterback Jack Mildren, and running backs Greg Pruitt and Joe Wylie.

Auburn has a top scoring threat of its own in Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sullivan, a quarterback, and his favorite target, wide receiver Terry Beasley.

Stanford faces another high-scoring offense in Michigan in the Rose Bowl, and Coach John Ralston says the Pacific-8 champions will lose if the defense must play 75 per cent of the game. He says the team must cut down the Wolverines running and force more passing.

Coach Bo Schlembecher of Big Ten champion Michigan says Stanford is the best passing team his players have faced all season, but the defense can't be content to just worry about the pass. He warns the Indians run well, and would not hesitate if Michigan was concentrating too much on defending against a passing attack.

Quarterback Eddie Phillips has been chosen as the starting Texas quarterback against Penn State in the Cotton Bowl after being out with multiple injuries this season. The Nittany Lions now must worry about Phillips engineering of the Wishbone while the Longhorns also will have their problems with the Penn State offense which features such runners as Lydell Mitchell and Franco Harris.

In tonight's Gator Bowl, or for this year, the Brother Bowl, Georgia, coached by Vince Dooley, plays North Carolina, coached by his brother, Bill.

Georgia, No. 6 in national rankings, has an offense sparked by strong running quarterback Andy Johnson, and scabback Jimmy "The Greek" Poulos. North Carolina, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, has three 500-plus yard rushers in Lewis "Green Giant" Jolley, George Hamilton and Ike Oglesby.

Houston's triple-option offense takes on Colorado's strong-charging Buffalos in the Astro Bluebonnet Bowl in another New Year's Eve game. The Cougars have led the nation in offense for five years and have in the backfield Robert Newhouse, who averaged 159 yards per game. Colorado has sophomore Charley Davis who rushed for 1,386 yards last season to become the school's best rusher in history.

Bruins' Record Still Thrives

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
UCLA's national-leading scoring average suffered, but the Bruins' record thrived and so did its ability to work a full-court press.

The Bruins, the nation's top-ranked team, won the Bruin Classic Basketball Tournament Thursday night, beating sixth-rated Ohio State 79-53 for their eighth victory without a loss this season.

The 79 points marked the first time this year the Bruins had not reached the 100-point level, dropping their average from 112.3 points per game to 108.1. But they didn't have to score 100 to wallop Ohio State.

Employing a stifling full-court press from the outset, the Bruins took charge quickly. Forcing the harried Buckeyes into numerous errors, they built an 11-1 lead, then put on a 14-2 burst for a 30-8 advantage midway through the first half.

Ohio State closed to 48-38 with 5½ minutes gone in the second half. But 7-foot Luke Witte picked up his fourth foul 2½ minutes later and when he left the game, UCLA pulled away.

In the biggest surprise of the holiday-paced tournament program, unheralded Villanova upset third-ranked South Carolina 77-76 for the championship of the Quaker City event. Tom Inglesby capped a 28-point performance with two free throws with six seconds remaining, giving the Wildcats their surprising victory. Inglesby was named the tourney's most valuable player.

In another upset, 16th-ranked Maryland routed ninth-rated St. John's N.Y. 90-69 in the final of the Maryland Invitational Christmas Tournament. Jim O'Brien scored 20 points for the Terrapins, who won their eighth game in nine starts.

However, Len Elmore, who collected only seven points but grabbed 18 rebounds, blocked numerous shots and stole several passes was named the tourney's most valuable player.

Meanwhile, North Carolina's globetrotting Tarheels were down stubborn Bradley 75-69 for the Sugar Bowl Tournament title. For the fourth-ranked Tarheels, it was their sixth victory in eight days and their third tourney championship. Previously, they won the Big Four in North Carolina and the International Christmas Tournament in Spain.

Virginia, No. 11, remained unbeaten, defeating The Citadel 77-72 for the championship in the Palmetto Classic. Barry Parkhill's 21 points led the Cavaliers, who gained their ninth victory.

Ron Thomas' 28 points and Jim Price's 25 helped 15th-ranked Louisville whip Fordham 96-82 for the Holiday Festival championship. The Cardinals, who had refused to attend the playing of the National Anthem during the semifinals, changed their tune and stood at attention for the playing of the Anthem before the final game.

Toddler's Windy 1st

MONTICELLO Toddler's Windy trotted to her second straight win at Monticello Raceway Thursday evening, scoring a two length win in the featured race. Driven by Harrison Hoyt, the eight-year-old gelding came from the outside number eight post to gain the top before the first quarter and was never headed. Highland Fox came on for second and Top was third. The winner returned $6.40, $3.60 and $3.60.

Another foggy night hampered the racing card. Jim Callahan drove Pinkuss home in front in the opening trot and J.M. John with Fred Heck in the sulky took the second, a pace. The 3-6 daily double returned $46.20.

The third race perfecta of 1-5 (Mitzi Charm and Fine Deon) returned $228.60.

Yet another all-time record in off track betting was established when the Thursday night card skyrocketed to $793,097 at Monticello. The superfecta which paid $181.20 had 101 winners. Ten were on track and 91 OTB winners. Winning combo of three was comprised of Miss Tree driven by Ed Lohmeyer Jr., Rusty Spur, Ron Hanover and Wendy Waa. The race was barely visible to spectators and almost completely lost to TV viewers as the fog hanging over the oval failed to lift.

Ernestly Speaking

THE CRYSTAL BALL

Not being the seventh son of a seventh son, I can't look into the future and predict what's going to happen. I can only hope that I may be going to help happen! And there just happens to be a couple of such events that I can prognosticate (how's that for a New Year's word?)

The first of these predictions is: I'm going to take a brief respite... 2 or 3 weeks... from putting out this "colyum." I simply have too many things on the fire for 1972, and in January I'll be as busy as a New York City horse player trying to find an Off-Track Betting office with all its computers working.

My second prediction involves the introduction of a new Dinner Menu, with some new dishes added, and an entire La Carte section for those who just can't surround our lavish full-course Dinner. Freeze or no Freeze, it's not easy to engineer a bill of fare that lowers prices without lowering quality; but we're working it out.

Third on the list: The inauguration of the Friday Night Dancertainment. This will be the night for nostalgia... your nostalgia... the songs of your youth... that "our song" of your honeymoon days... from the year or years you select. There will be Dancing from 8 P.M. to the wee hours... with nostalgia, interludes, sing-alongs, tune-naming contests, prizes, and fun galore. All engineered, musically, by our great combo of Mark Garrison at the Hammond and Tommy Fitzgerald on the Drums. Don't confuse this projected evening with any other kind of song-and-dance night around... not even our own fabulous Saturday Night Soiree and Shaveree. Each Friday night will be programmed, to bring you an ever-changing variety of fun and surprises. Hope to have it started before the new year is a month old.

Another project is the possible enlarging of the Cocktail Lounge, to allow more seating and more dance floor... what is irreverently alluded to around Roberto's as "Operation Fanny and Feet."

If it can be done without too much upset, I think we'll do it. So that's part of what will keep me from putting out this "colyum" for a few weeks. But I'll be back... bigger and better than ever... before the month is over. Maybe by that time I'll have all the "Christmas Party" (and, of course, New Year's Eve) statistics to print; meanwhile, here are a few more pre-Christmas gatherings from the

SCENE AT ROBERTO'S

The week started off with Martha and George Zidro entering, friends at dinner, when they called a "Get-Together." The togetherness-geists were Mikey and Lane Cooper, Roberto and Robert Glass and son, Rory, and George Zaros. The comment: "Steak was 'Mothwatering' was an AAA rating, coming from the former owner of Kingston's famous Park Diner. The Christmas Party for the Staffs of the Kingston Schools Cafeterias, under the aegis of Mr. A. Watson Bailey, Elmendorf Street; Sophie Vasilevich, Lake Katrine; Helen Stall and Mary Viteri, Lucas Ave.; Estelion; Mildred Herwig, Manor Place; Loretta Heslelier, Hillers Lane; Mary Van Klee, Roberts Street; Marion Bunt, Watson Place.

For Kingston Hospital Nurses Party, representing several different departments, attendants included Edith Anderson, Phyllis Bulgatz, and that's about all I've got room for. If I intend to mention our fabulous

NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY which swings out tonight. At this writing (10 days before press time) I can't promise that there will be any reservations available, but it's worth a telephone call to try. If it's humanly possible, I'll try to squeeze you in.

To ring in the New Year tomorrow, I can't do better than repeat my message of last year: PEACE! The French pronounce it "Paix", in Spanish it's "Paz", and we Italians say "Pace"... all from the little Latin tongue has it "Frieden", the Scandinavians came near with "Fred", the Jews (and Arabs) say "Shalom", and there are a dozen others I can neither decipher nor pronounce. But however you say "PEACE", that's the way I want to say it, and that's the best thing I can wish you for the New Year.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning can have strange and highly emotional situations connected with it; those who celebrated too much last night will certainly realize it! However, later in the day and evening excellent influences are in effect for making New Year's resolutions and starting activity for greater success.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day to talk over with friends and experts how best to operate so you can realize your more cherished goals. Plan how to operate better in the future so you do not need so much help from others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't neglect to invite people who can be helpful to you in the future to any entertainments planned now. You like to have a place of

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You had better get those duties handled early so you can later have a delightful time with friends and relatives. Plan how you can add to your present own work. Try not to spend too holding. Avoid one who drinks too much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Start the new year right by being with those individuals you want in your life in the future. You are able to see more clearly what you desire in the future. Make notes so you do not forget new ideas you get.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are now inspired just how to handle associates better in the future and how to increase your income. You can talk with experts in a social way and get good ideas. Show others you are a generous and kind person.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HOW? (Q) I'm 15 and attend school and work in Washington, D.C. At the place I work, there are 97 guys and only three girls, including myself, working. The odds are greatly in my favor. Since I have been lucky enough to get this job, I have also dated a great many of the guys. I enjoy the company of each of them tremendously.

My problem is that, although I date a lot of guys, there is one boy I like in a different way. I've dated him only a few times, and I can't seem to tell just HOW he likes me. Not HOW MUCH, but HOW?

I can't tell whether he likes me just as a friend to be with or as something more. My sisters all say that it must be more than just friends, because he keeps asking me out. I HAVE to find out for sure just HOW he likes me. I have never had to do this before, so I have to ask for your advice.

—Fortunate in the District of Columbia.

(A) Only one boy can answer the question you ask, and I am not that boy. Relax and try not to seem too anxious about HOW special you are to him.

He obviously likes you or he wouldn't take you out time after time. If he thinks you're too eager to know just HOW he feels about you, you may lose some or all of his interest. Do not be too pushy about a boy who keeps coming back, and whom you WANT to keep coming back.

HOT COMB: (Q) I have fairly long, curly hair and want to get a hot comb to straighten it. But does a hot comb damage hair?—Curly in Pennsylvania.

(A) A hot comb will not damage hair if it is used properly. It will straighten hair temporarily, as rolling it on big rollers would.

New Indictment Enlarges Ellsberg Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo, a former colleague at the Rand Corp., are named in a new, 15-count indictment in the Pentagon papers case that observers say should make the government's prosecution easier.

Only Ellsberg, who has admitted giving the papers to newspapers, was named in an earlier indictment returned by a federal grand jury here. The action announced Thursday replaces it, enlarges the case against Ellsberg and adds Russo.

Vu Van Thai, a former South Vietnamese ambassador to the United States, and Lynda Sinay, head of a Los Angeles advertising agency and a friend of both Ellsberg and Russo, are named as undicted coconspirators.

The indictment, returned secretly Wednesday, accused Ellsberg and Russo of conspiring with others to steal and make known once top-secret U.S. Department of Defense papers on the Vietnam war.

Ellsberg originally was accused only of unauthorized possession of the documents and converting them to his own use. The new 15 counts include charges of conspiracy, stealing, concealing, conveying and possessing government documents and receiving, communicating or retaining national defense documents. The counts carry various penalties up to a maximum of $10,000 fine and 10 years in prison.

Observers said the conspiracy count is expected to make the government's case easier since it will allow U.S. attorneys to use hearsay statements of coconspirators and other evidence not otherwise admissible.

Also, observers added, the government will be required only to prove there was an agreement to commit an unlawful act and that at least one overt act was committed in the agreement.

Miss Sinay told a Los Angeles grand jury last August that Ellsberg paid her $150 to make copies of some documents on a copying machine in her office, but that she did not know their content.

Thai, 52, was ambassador to the United States from November 1965 to December 1966. He later served as Saigon's ambassador-at-large for Latin America and Canada, then he returned to work for the United Nations. He worked as an engineer and economist for various U.N. agencies from 1961 to 1965.

The Pentagon papers leak broke last June when The New York Times began publishing installments of the study on the origin of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war. Subsequent installments appeared in various other U.S. newspapers.

Vietnam Holiday Cease-Fire Begins

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces joined the Viet Cong today in a New Year cease-fire across South Vietnam, but American air forces followed up their five-day attack on North Vietnam with more raids on enemy supply routes in Laos.

The 24-hour allied cease-fire began at 6 p.m. Saigon time, or 5 a.m. EST. A 72-hour truce proclaimed by the Viet Cong went into effect 17 hours earlier.

The South Vietnamese command reported only one violation during the first hours of the enemy cease-fire, an attack on a village in the Central Highlands. One militiaman was reported killed.

With the cease-fires applicable only in South Vietnam, U.S. B52 bombers were diverted to targets in Laos. They joined scores of smaller fighter-bombers in raids near the Mu Gia, Ban Raving and Ban Karai passes, the entrances to the Ho Chi Minh trail.

U.S. reconnaissance planes were reported in the air over North Vietnam trying to assess the damage done by the American planes earlier this week to supply and fuel depots on the North Vietnamese side of the three passes.

The U.S. Command, in a preliminary assessment, said that 11 air defense sites were destroyed. A spokesman, Capt. James D'Entremont, said the U.S. planes encountered at least 30 surface-to-air missiles and one MIG interceptor during the five-day operation, and two of the three planes the Command reported lost were downed by the Soviet-built SAM2s on Thursday, the last day of the raids.

The U.S. Command said the two planes were Navy craft that went down in the vicinity of Vinh, 160 miles south of Hanoi. It said one of the four fliers was rescued and the other three were listed as missing. North Vietnam said two of the pilots were captured but did not give their names or any other details about them.

The only other loss admitted by the U.S. Command was an Air Force F4 Phantom downed on Sunday at Thanh Hoa, 80 miles south of Hanoi. North Vietnam said both the crewmen were killed.

North Vietnam claimed it shot down a total of 19 American aircraft.

A U.S. Central Intelligence Agency plane with three Americans and a Laotian aboard was reported missing since last Monday in northern Laos. The Air America C123 disappeared on a supply mission from Vientiane to western Savaboury province, on the Thai border, where guerrillas supported by the CIA are operating.

Control Seen as Needed After Phase 2

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government control over wage and price increases will be needed long after Phase 2 ends, says Paul W. McCracken, retiring chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

And, McCracken said, Phase 2 of President Nixon's economic control program will last at least through the 1972 election.

McCracken told a farewell news conference Thursday he could not predict what kind of controls would be around after Phase 2 ends, but added:

"Phase 3 will have to be something that permits the market system to operate still more freely than it does now, but which has some regard for the tendency of costs and prices to continue rising after the overheating of the economy has ended."

He said Phase 3 might be no more than a matter of official supervision, but stressed the government would have to exercise controls "for a long time to come."

McCracken emphasized his remarks did not necessarily reflect the administration's position, but rather were "the personal views of a professor on his way back to academia."

McCracken is returning to his economics teaching position at the University of Michigan. Herbert Stein, now vice chairman of the council, will become its chairman Jan. 1.

Meanwhile, the Price Commission said Thursday tenants can expect at least a one-month delay in any increases in their rents, and many probably will not have to pay the increases until March.

Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said all tenants on monthly or weekly leases who did not pay increases before Wednesday do not have to pay more than their December rent in January even if they have received notice of an increase.

prove only a portion of a 12 percent first-year wage increase to 11,000 North American Rockwell Corp. aerospace workers. Rumsfeld also said he expects the council to issue guidelines next week on contracts within the aerospace industry.

—The Price Commission said retailers must post their price ceiling lists in a position "easily accessible to the customer and must not require him to ask a store employee for access to the information." The commission has asked the Internal Revenue Service to start checking retailers Jan. 3 for compliance with the posting requirement.

Nixon Winds Up Florida Stay

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon winds up a five-day Florida stay today and heads back to the White House to celebrate New Year's Eve with his family.

The President, who has spent most of December away from Washington pursuing summits in sunny spots, will be traveling again, probably Monday, to San Clemente, Calif. He has scheduled a two-day meeting there with Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato Jan. 6-7.

There was to be a festive family reunion tonight. It also will be a bon voyage party for Pat Nixon, who departs on her semi-official mission to Africa on behalf of the President on New Year's Day.

Mrs. Nixon will head the U.S. delegation to the inauguration Sunday of President William R. Tolbert of Liberia. She also plans to tour Ghana and the Ivory Coast in West Africa before returning home Jan. 9.

The President will see his wife off at Andrews Air Force Base.

Nixon also will be boning up for his one-hour end-of-the-year television interview at 9:30 p.m. EST Sunday on CBS. He has not had a press conference since Nov. 12.

CBS correspondent Dan Rathner, who will be interviewing him, is expected to ask the President whether he is running for re-election in 1972, which few polls doubt.

Rousing Sendoff Given U Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Haggard but smiling bravely, U Thant was given a rousing sendoff by his colleagues and staff as he left U.N. headquarters for the last time as secretary-general.

"I am an optimist," Thant told newsmen Thursday night. "I have hope for the future of the United Nations."

"There might be difficulties, perhaps for a couple of years. But things will improve."

Thant said he felt "greatly relieved" at stepping down from the job he often complained has vast responsibilities but little power.

Asked what gave him the greatest satisfaction at the end of 10 years in office, Thant, in a reference to the admission of Communist China this year, replied: "The principle of universality is almost fulfilled, I would say."

He added that his one regret was that the divided countries were still not in the world body, "but I guess the two Germanys will be in next year."

He looked drawn and tired, having returned to work only three weeks ago after hospital treatment for a duodenal ulcer.

Undersecretaries-general rubbed shoulders with messengers, secretaries and clerks at a champagne party given by his personal staff and senior colleagues.

Thant said he would spend the rest of his life helping to achieve the ideals and principles of the United Nations.

Spelling out his philosophy, the mild-mannered Thant added: "The modest man is a strong man; the arrogant man is the weak man."
